

Game introduction

Last time you were in Berlin, you were 10.

You have a happy but confused memory of it, like what you have of a place where you spend the summer holidays during a childhood mostly forgotten. A place of carefree days, afternoons of games between cousins and grandmother's delicacies, before she moved to the warm Mediterranean to rest her tired bones.

Your grandmother contacted you after receiving the letter from the city of Berlin: for reasons of urban redevelopment, the house will be demolished to make room for a modern shopping centre.

There was no need for big discussions, a message about the family group and you set off on a journey north. Officially you have to pack the most precious and cherished furnishings to the memory of grandmother. In fact, your goal is to save the house from destruction, and the only way you can do that is to enhance its historical memory.

Explore the house from top to bottom, dive back into the past and uncover the stories of Berlin during the Berlin Wall years.
